READERS' CHOICE AWARDS

Our 33rd Readers' Choice Awards represent the first time that you, the voters, made your picks when almost no one was traveling. So the names in this year's edition are the ones that brought you comfort, that you still connected with long afterward, that got you through the months without travel. These are the enduring gems that can withstand the test of time and the vicissitudes of circumstances. So while it is always an honor to be on this list, in this strangest of years it is a special honor, indeed. Many readers have told us that when we emerge from this pandemic, they want to turn their attention to the classics, whether that means personal favorites or places they know have brought joy to others. If that sounds like you, consider these lists a jumping-off point for what's next. —Jesse Ashlock, U.S. Editor

“Our favorite room at Oregon’s Stephanie Inn is on the first floor at the south end, beachfront with a patio and large jetted tub. We go at least once a year.”
